RE: March Golf Report

Golf Update:

Golf courses are coming out of winter without any injury. Just some small amounts of snow mold fungus but overall courses look healthy in early March. The crews have almost wrapped up the winter maintenance on equipment at each course. Courses were playable shortly after the big snow melted off and golf rounds were being played on March 3rd. Happy we could get customers out playing again after zero rounds played in the month of February. Ash tree removal at Holmes will be starting up this month. Once completed there will only be a few ash trees remaining at Holmes which the staff will work on in the fall and winter of 2021/22. The Highlands crew has been busy removing several of the ash trees around that course. Again only a few will remain for removal next fall and winter.

With a warm stretch of weather in early March the golf courses have been busy with play in early part of the month. Four inches of rain and cooler weather has halted golf play for about a week. Hopefully the last half of the month will bring more favorable golf weather.

High School and College golf teams have begun their golf seasons for spring. Spring is the busiest times for golf memberships being bought and renewals of memberships for the year.

Spring aeration at the courses will start in April. The schedule is as follows: Pioneers-April 5th & 6th, Mahoney-April 12th & 13th, Holmes-April 19th & 20th, Highlands-April 26th & 27th.

Capital Improvements Update:

Highlands Golf-Clancy Woolman Clubhouse- new chairs and tables have been ordered and should arrive middle to late April.

Jim Ager Golf Course Irrigation Well is being inspected due to sand gravel found in irrigation lines last fall.
